Modify the Cookie example in Fig 19.9 through 19.11 to have the book recommendation list prices for each book. Also, by adding check box in front of each recommendation, allow the user to select some or all of the recommended books and “order” them. When the user pushes the “order” button, he/she should receive a confirmation for the purchase. The order process is just returning a confirmation that the buyer has successfully bought the selected books (just list the book names in the confirmation page).